Hi Phillippa,

The Clean Air Plan referenced in the Sierra Club press release is EPA's SO2 designations. Last year, we extended our own deadline to promulgate designations by one year (June 3, 2013). We're now beyond that date and we should be making these designations any time now. Maybe as soon as next week.

Ex. 5 - Deliberative Process Privilege

The only thing that we can say publicly is that we're planning on issuing these designations soon.

The PM2.5 SILs issue is a permitting one and I'm working with the permitting staff to get you an answer on that.

I suspect if it's Peoria TV stations asking questions, this is referring to the Ameren Edwards plant in Bartonville, IL, which is about 5 miles from Peoria. I'm guessing this is the situation:

I had messages from two Peoria TV stations asking about the "situation" with an Ameren power plant in Edwardsville. Protestors at the plant this morning said that EPA was supposed to make some kind of decision about the plant in June. I'm not sure what decision they are referring to. Do we have an ongoing permitting or enforcement issue with this plant? If so, what is the status?
